

Productive workplace.

Safe workforce.

*How Cherry's can personally help you
create more productive,
safer, and cleaner
industrial workplaces...*

We started with a simple idea...

Cherry's was originally founded in 1982 to market the pallet inverter, a new piece of material-handling equipment developed to turn entire pallet loads over to safely recover and replace broken bags of fertilizer, sugar, and other dry products. This little "niche" product soon became a must-have for all material handlers. Our Cherry's-brand inverters now touch hundreds of products every day, from Campbell's soup to lottery tickets, from ATM machines to cosmetics. With the success of this product, Cherry's itself grew as well, branching into all pallet-related machines.

We solve problems.

It wasn't enough to have one great product, we wanted to create lasting solutions to the problems of the pallet industry: repetitive motion injuries, back strain, fatigue, and other incidents resulting in harm to employees, expensive workmen's compensation claims, and lost hours. So, we expanded our product line to include seven different primary products, as well as dozens of different models and custom designs—all geared toward reducing risk in the manufacturing and warehouse industries, increasing safety, and saving valuable time.

We make it in America.

All Cherry's-brand products are manufactured and assembled in the U.S.—not a single part is outsourced. We made the conscious decision to bring all of our processes back home a number of years ago, realizing the importance of upholding the highest standard of quality, respecting American jobs, and deliberately not contributing to human rights abuses and environmentally-unsafe practices in other parts of the world. Since then, we have purchased the rights to manufacture a wide variety of product lines that were ready to be shipped overseas or discontinued. Through keeping these needed products in the market, we hope to continue the great American legacy of quality craftsmanship at home.

We know real quality.

Our clients aren't just looking for a quick fix, they want the highest-quality equipment available to seamlessly integrate into their existing processes. We understand that—and that kind of quality can't be found off-the-rack or overseas. Our innovative, top-notch risk assessment examines all the potential outcomes of each product and subsequently crafts a durable, lasting piece of machinery aimed to eliminate risk in the workplace and improve productivity.

We value you.

We respect our clients. We understand what matters to you. And it's these values that inform all we do. That is our promise to you.

Thank you for coming to Cherry's for your material-handling needs. We look forward to serving and partnering with you for years to come!
